Message From our President

Student Employment Administrators,

We hope this message finds you well. What a strange year we have found ourselves in. My name is Tisha Pasquinelli and I am the current president of the Washington State Association of Student Employment Administrators (WSASEA). WSASEA would like to extend a supportive hand during these times of uncertainty. We are offering free membership for the 20-21 year. Interested parties should reach out to Alyse Bradway at bradwaya@spu.edu.

It is our goal that our members find support from the board members and the membership body. Members will have access to our mentorship program, our list serve to ask questions of each other, our upcoming Fall Town via Zoom, and incredible opportunities to join the board (several positions renew annually).

Join our community and find strength in connections.

Wishing you all an amazing 20-21,

Tisha Pasquinelli
WSASEA President

Please join us October 23rd, 2020 for a discussion on work study in the times of COVID-19. We will be discussing state rules regarding work study, especially as they pertain to working in a remote environment. We will also be discussing federal updates in regards to work study.

This year we will also welcome Meleani Bates from Clark College, manager of the Work-Based Learning Program and co-manager of the Student Employment Program. We will learn about how we as administrators can help remove employment barriers that exist for students.
